BACKGROUND

Tom used a large Telluride, CO property management company as his property manager for 2.5 years. During that time, he felt they wasted his valuable time by continuously bothering him with small issues and not communicating enough on the big-ticket issues. Pulling his condo away from his initial property manager was not easy as he had already invested a great deal of effort and time, but it had become apparent that he needed to find another property manager who could get the job done.

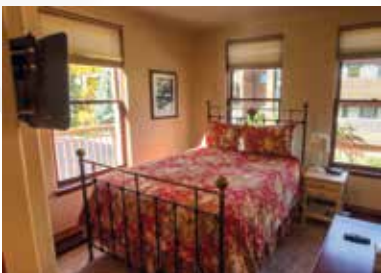

SOLUTION

Tom placed a call to SkyRun's Co-Founder and CEO, Barry Cox, and several other companies and asked for a proposal on how SkyRun would handle the situations he was most frustrated with. He met with and selected SkyRun was a partner he felt he could depend on to manage his property.

RESULTS

Within a week the property was photographed, a 3d virtual tour was created, and his property was marketed on over 45 websites within the US and internationally. The reservations started coming in and he realized SkyRun could not only handle the details better, but would also financially make the most of his property. Now, after more than 3.5 years with SkyRun, Tom knows his property is in good hands and that SkyRun is a property manager he can trust with his investment. The property owner confidently summarizes SkyRun in three words - "SOLID RENTAL AGENT."
